Do We Know Ourselves?
Kelly Still in Prison
By ARTHUR BRISANE

GEN. HUGH A. JOHNSON, NRA administrator, says this dying year has been the most eventful in the nation's history, and may be right.

It is the first year in which the government has interested itself in millions idle, worried and hungry. Such conditions previously have been left to "supply and demand."

General Johnson believes that in this year "democracy, under the leadership of a President embodying the sense of democracy in its highest sense, has reached a pinnacle in its climb upward, which will serve as an example to the people of the entire civilized world, and bring lasting contentment to his people," meaning President Roosevelt's people.

That is not an exaggerated statement, although there are "ifs, buts" and "perhaps" to be considered.

If dollars continue scarce, that may lower the height of the "pinnacle" and, on the other hand, if inflation, in the spirit of effort to control it, should be too violent, that would damage the "pinnacle" considerably.

But at least the government is TRYING to do something, apparently aware that it is responsible for the people that live under it, and that trying is important and highly gratifying.

In Texas, on the Mexican border near El Paso, many workers who need jobs and wages, will soon be employed on a great project with flood control in the Rio Grande basin. The United States and Mexico are cooperating in this work, sharing the expense. Americans are Mexicans will work side by side, earning wages, making the earth safer for its inhabitants.

That sets a good example to the rest of the world. There, when different nationalities come close together they are usually squabbling in trenches, blowing each others heads off.

Mexico, ruling all of this continent, from the North Pole to the southern side of the Panama Canal, should work and cooperate in brotherly fashion, as a genuine league of "American nations," setting a good example to the rest of the world.

A young woman wearing a "Daughters of the American Revolution" pin, found wandering in the street, could not tell who or how old she was.

Apparently about 25 years old, she looked in a glass and said, "I must be more than 16."

That seems strange to us, yet she is all in much the same condition. Here we are on earth, identified by names given to us. We don't know who we really are, whence we came or whether we are going where.

We go to and fro for a few years, eat, talk, grow, then move on, and no one knows that we had for a little while are put on tomatoes.

But who we are, of what we are, or why we came here and then go, we know as little as the unfortunate victim of amnesia.

When "Machine-Gun" Kelly went to Leavenworth prison for life, for kidnaping, he said proudly to guard, "I'll be out of here before Christmas in a park and 'Machine-Gun' Kelly is still in his isolation cell, and will probably stay there, as will Bailey and Bates, the two sentenced with him to life imprisonment."

Other Leavenworth prisoners have changed his nickname from "Machine-Gun" to "Blabber-mouth," according to the warden.

For excessive talking, Kelly was given the nickname of "Blabber-mouth," according to the warden.

FASTEST IN CONGRESS

Executive to Press for Few Changes in Recovery Plan

Washington, Dec. 27.—The federal deficit today passed the billions dollar mark as President Roosevelt resumed conferences with advisors to prepare the administration's first budget to be presented to Congress next week.

President Roosevelt displayed no surprise at the deficit and it was reported at the White House the figure would mount even higher as a result of the recovery program.

The Chief Executive was said authoritatively to be interested in making certain that income in revenue here plus with the normal current expenditures and he understands this income and outgo is about on an even basis.

The deficit is expected to represent only a part of the extraordinary expenditures being made by the government in behalf of the recovery drive.

PREPARING HIS BUDGET

Continuing the preparation of the budget to be submitted to Congress next week, President Roosevelt called in Henry Morgenthau, acting Secretary of the Treasury, and David Douglas, budget director.

Mr. Roosevelt said he had not started writing his budget message nor his message on the state of the Union to be read to Congress on the opening day, Jan. 3.

Simultaneously, the government estimated the price of domestic gold at $19.08 an ounce. It was the seventh successive time this figure had been announced.

As to foreign trade, the department of commerce reported a favorable balance of $20,000,000 for November—$184,000,000 in goods going abroad while $183,000,000 came in.

The exact amount of the deficit given in the latest announcement of the treasury's condition dated Dec. 22 was $1,094,212,667. On the same date last year the deficit was $1,050,047,753.

Ordinary expenditures were without receipts, but those classified by the administration as "emergency" exceeded the amount of the deficit.

Lines for a congressional appropriation over monetary subjects being drawn today both at the White House and on Capitol Hill.

At the Capitol, Republican leaders prepared to outline party policies. Senator McNary (R., Ore.) and Rep. Shell (R., N. Y.), minority leaders in their respective branches, arranged for conference before the opening of the session.

Indications are that the Chief Executive intends to ask for changes in the general monetary machine but some move may be in the offing in connection with the aid giving plan.

Very recently held at international conference to stabilize world currencies on a gold basis.

Senator Reed told newspapermen he felt the President had made "four mistakes" in his monetary activities and that unless Roosevelt took a definite stand against inflation there would not be enough voice over currency debasement.

2 HUNDED BY BALTIMORE JAIL

Two young bandits, each with a bullet in his body, were sentenced from Norfolk Superior court today to five years in Concord reformatory for a $110 robbery of card players at a Brooklyn clubroom December 3.

John J. Norton, 21, of Cornell St., Roslindale, and George Farley, alias Fisher, 24, of East Ninth St., South Boston, pleaded guilty to the robbery, and their counsel, James McGowan, asked probationary sentence, stating it was premeditated that they would survive their wounds.

Judge Williams refused the plea after District Attorney Dwyer had made a motion for a continuance. Both men would receive reformatory sentences.

Norton carried off a $100 bill by a hand, fired by State Detective Heine, who was passing the hand. Farley was shot in the left arm, fired by one of the holdup parties. A third accomplice is still at large.

500,000 at Funeral of Spanish Leader

Batcelona, Spain, Dec. 27.—Nearly 500,000 persons jammed Barcelona today to watch the funeral cortege of the late Josep Maia president of Catalonia, pass in state through the city to a new cemetery in the suburbs.

Thousands of mourners were Pres. Maia's Zmora.

Squadrons of airplanes dropped flowers on the cortege, where the body of Maia was taken before burial.

SHOWING BOSTON GUN 15 YEARS AGO

Boston was 15 years ahead of Japan on the latter's new gas bullet-driven machine gun for which a speed of 9075 bullets a minute is claimed. Earle Ovington, then a Boston pioneer, is demonstrating the invention of the late Levi W. Lombard of Boston. Operated by hand or motor, the Lombard gun, by centrifugal force, like the Japanese weapon, hurled 33,000 bullets a minute, according to the inventor. (International News Photos.)

OUT OF DEATH'S BOWL ROLLS 33,000

Ammunition for the Lombard gun was fed from this funnel-like hopper into a rotary disk, which revolved at tremendous speed, hurling the bullets forth by centrifugal force much faster than and as true as the ordinary machine gun.

MAKING CHEESE HOLES FOR STEEL PLATE

How a 1/8-inch steel plate looked after the demonstration of Lombard's gun. It pierced the steel as easily as rifle bullets do hard wood. For the Japanese gun similar penetration is claimed.

The U. S. Army rejected Lombard's gun, however, and still favors explosives to centrifugal force.

Louisiana Fights at Polls to Break Long's Grip

New Orleans, Dec. 27 (INS)—The rebellion of Louisiana citizens against Senator Huey P. Long's political dictatorship swept to the polls today with the prospect that tonight would be two days of election in which Long would be defeated in Washington to contest for the Sixth District congressional seat.

Improved ballot boxes were set up and voting was brisk as Sixth District citizens expressed their indignation over Long's rule.

Long, nominated at a citizens' hands pick, the congressional member without holding a primary election, is seeking the post left vacant by the death of Rep. John R. Kemp.

Mr. Kemp, selected by the Long faction to succeed his husband, won an election two weeks ago in which his name was the only one on the ballot. Only 5000 of the 80,000 registered voters cast ballots during that riotous election in which Sixth District citizens armed themselves, raided voting precincts and burned Long in effigy.

The Kingfish seeks also to oust Dist. Atty. Eugene Stanley who has vigorously prosecuted fraud charges against him since 1928.

Army Prefers Browning Weapon Fired by Explosives

The U. S. army is not worried as yet over the news that Japan has perfected a centrifugal machine gun, operated by a gasoline engine and capable of hurling 9075 shots a minute, it was learned today.

The United States is going ahead with its own improvements in the heavy Browning machine gun, and expects to have a new model in the field by the end of the year.

Earle Ovington, inventor of the Lombard gun, is not the only one who has been working on a new machine gun. The fact that the United States turned it down, and that Lombard died in 1921, shortly after it was reported he had sold the invention to England for a large sum, added to the speculation about the Japanese weapon, said to be the invention of a Japanese engineer.

Earle Ovington, pioneer Boston flint, co-operated with Lombard in the invention of the gun.

The Jap gun is noisier and run by a gasoline motor which whirled at terrific speed. The disc throws off bullets as a tire throws mud. Lombard's gun looked like a centrifugal cannon separating machine. It shot marked bullets which were fed onto the groove, revolving disk through a funnel-shaped hopper, and then into the barrel. The gun could fire 33,000 bullets a minute.

WOMEN FILERS 20 FACE ARREST

ALLOTT 7 DAYS IN SPY RING

Miami, Dec. 27.—Frances Marcella, co-holder of present women's endurance record flight, and Helen Rithely, McKeesport, Pa., flyer, who replaced the U. S. Navy in the monoplane Outdoor Girl, completed seven days in the air at 10:00 a. m. today in their attempt to beat existing women's endurance record.

"The way we feel," Frances Marcella wrote in a note picked up by airport attendants, "we could stay almost anywhere, and it is entirely possible that if our motor holds out we shall attempt to break the present men's record."

Outdoor Girl has been refueled 20 times since the takeoff with the last trouble. The flyers, who are both experienced aviators, missed little that earth-lovers enjoyed.

President Ramon Grau San Martin today criticized the government's intention not to pay Cuban National Bank certificates as a "disgraceful" move which would hurt the Cuban economy.

Turning in an alarm of the British, the Cuban government has "illegitimately" as Grau dealt with Machado (deposed former President) without the consent of the Cuban people.

President Limburg, the Dutch minister, called upon Foreign Minister Konstantin Von Neurath and officially made the request. Van der Lubbe was sentenced last Saturday.

Group's Demand Facing Defeat as Morgan Joins Drive

Washington, Dec. 27 (INS)—The campaign of Wall Street bankers for legislation to create a United States banking system, today appeared doomed to failure at the coming session of Congress, because of opposition from a strong state bank bloc.

The state bank bloc demonstrated its strength last summer by forcing inclusion of state banks in the federal guaranty of bank deposits.

This provision has given the movement a real problem, since the Deposit Insurance Corp. and Reconstruction Finance Corp. must decide how to include some 600 state banks, which have impaired capital.

MORGAN JOINS ALDRICH

On the other hand, 7000 state banks, outside the Federal Reserve system, were strong enough to force inclusion of state banks without governmental aid.

MORGAN JOINS DEMAND

The demand for unified banking system was started in Wall Street months ago. Winthrop W. Aldrich, head of the Chase National Bank, was among the first to advocate it. Now, the Guaranty Trust Company, which is a member of the Federal Reserve system, has joined the crusade. Both Aldrich and Chase officials have declared it should be approached by introducing branch banking by national banks.

Aldrich proposed modification of the banking laws to permit branch banking by national banks through their own state banks, lower under 15,000 population, despite state laws to the contrary. He urged national banks be allowed to take over small state banks and to establish branches in small towns, having no state banks.

SINGLE SYSTEM PLAN

"After the smallest banks had been brought together in substantial systems on a large scale, it would then be possible to take the further step of bringing together into larger organizations the substantial units created. Ultimately the larger groups could be brought together in a single system—under the federal reserve board."

COPELAND BACKS PLAN TO STOP FIREARMS SALES

By THOMAS F. CULLEN

International News Service Staff Correspondent

New York, Dec. 27 (INS)—Control of firearms, particularly the machine gun, will be recommended to Congress by Senator Royal S. Copeland, chairman of the committee on public safety, during his investigation. Copeland has given the attention of the firearms situation.

During his investigation, Copeland has been told by experts that it is not possible to control the sale of firearms without first obtaining a permit, either on "such laws."

He has learned that thousands of guns are imported every year and are sold without any kind of control.

While some states like New York have stringent laws and regulations, it is impossible for anyone to buy a gun without first obtaining a permit, either on "such laws."

With Five Arrests in N. Y. Police Begin Search Here

In national headquarters of Teahang, the Armenian secret revolutionary organization, clues were sought today in Boston in an attempt to unearth the knife slayers of Archbishop Leon Tourian, who died under a keen blade before the altar of New York's Church of the Holy Cross.

Five men were taken into custody in New York in connection with the slaying, but investigators believe the plot trail leads back to Boston.

In an attempt to trace the knife, officials said today they would question the proprietor of New York's cutlery store and might place him under arrest as a material witness.

IN RING OF DEATH

The shopkeeper was named by Asst. Dist. Atty. Joseph Cohen as Nigal Oshanian, and Cohen declared the slaying of Archbishop Tourian was held in $150,000 bail.

Cohen also said there were at least 20 members of Teahang in the church, and they sprang from pews and formed a mob which killed the bishop as he was making his way to the altar.

He said the slaying of this human being, the murderer stabbed him in the back.

Who engineered Sunday's slaying may even have been selected from the red, black and orange flag, the colors of the Armenian revolutionaries.

Meanwhile, the search has spread to Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey and New Hampshire.

MARKED FOR DEATH

The slaying of Archbishop Tourian in dramatic fashion in Chicago last fall, it was learned today, was the first of a series of slayings in the Chicago area.

On Dec. 10, a priest was slain in the platform where Bishop Tourian was speaking and planted the red, black and orange flag of the Armenian revolutionaries.

It is said, when the bishop said that he could not continue his address until the banner was removed.

The bishop incurred the enmity of this group, which is sworn to do anything that may promote the Armenian revolution, by advising its submission to Soviet Russia.

NOTE CHANGE

Washington, Dec. 27 (AP)—A constitutional amendment to change the electoral college was introduced today in the Senate by Senator Norris (R., Neb.), a backer of the resolution.

The amendment would change the electoral college from the present system of electors to a system of direct election by the people.

Senator Norris said that the present system of electors is "a relic of the past" and that it is "time to change it."

He said that the amendment would "give the people a direct voice in the election of the President."

OLD-FASHIONED SKELETONS SHOWS

Brain Capacity Large 10,000 Years Ago, Professor Says

By F. R. COLTON

Associated Press Science Writer

A real "old-fashioned" girl of the old stone age, who was smarter than her modern sister, if you can judge by brain capacity, gave a new idea of the origin of the human race today before the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

She was a true "Minerva" of 30,000 years ago and an Amazon as well. Her brain capacity was 1400 cubic centimeters as against 1300 for the average young woman of today and 1300 for modern man, although only 30 years old.

Study of this and other skeletons of the old stone age shows that new measurement of the many bones of ancient man and woman assumes may greatly clarify the mystery of the origin of the present human race, said Prof. Gerhard von Soden of the University of Illinois. One of the stone age specimens, presumably, came the modern human.

The new evidence shows, he went on, that there was probably only one race on earth during the Stone Age instead of three, as many scientists have formerly believed.

GIRLS WERE TALL

This race, the Cro-Magnon man, must have undergone minor changes during the several thousand years of its existence, according to the previous belief that there were three races.

Some believe Cro-Magnon man developed into modern man, others that he died out for some unexplained reason. There is evidence that Cro-Magnon man drove out or replaced the Neanderthal man who had a much smaller brain capacity.

The Cro-Magnon girl had a fairly long and narrow skull and was about five feet tall, with long, thin, white teeth. The structure of her bones and hands and the fact that her wisdom teeth were just coming through her gums when she was about 20 years of age. Her skeleton was found at Cas Bona, France, and is now in the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago.

Scientists Find Oysters Beautiful Fur Foxes

By GORDON BEHARI LAL

Universal Service Science Editor

Your oyster must be as beautiful as a touch of bad odors in them. When foxes eat oysters, their fur grows exceptionally beautiful.

Old age does not weaken oyster's manual skill as much as is generally thought, and in many ways improves mentality.

There are among a hundred or more new things discovered by scientists recently that are of interest today at the science exhibit of the meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

COLORFUL EXHIBITS

In the colorful light thrown by the stained glass windows of the Museum of Science, the exhibition presents some 80 sections, each an astonishing display of scientific research and invention, instruction, industrial art and beauty.

As to the scientific analysis of oysters of all kinds, scientists of the Arthur Little laboratory have devised a method of giving an analysis number, or ticket, to each oyster. Thus, oyster of row is 6322, number, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

For the time being, it is that Phil and Edna, the erstwhile Edith, will be married on Jan. 2.

Phil and Edna have been pally for years and Plant gave her a $12,000 diamond ring, which was covered with diamonds and it disappeared.

OTHER WAY, SHE WINS

The first story was that she lost it to a man in the Fifth Avenue Plaza, the mother, Mr. William Hayward. Later it was said the bracelet vanished with Edna and that the confectioner for the heavyweight title offered, without result, a $1000 reward for its return.

A lot of Boston folk who inspected Edna's necktie offerings when they were in the city, and who watched her twinkling eye since she came to the city, were awaiting the outcome of the Plant-Baer contest with considerable interest, and don't see how Edna can drive.

New York Intelligencer, besides centering on her background, it became the story of her life for her heart and hand in which, at the present time, the millionaires Plant appears to have a slight edge.

For the time being, it is that Phil and Edna, the erstwhile Edith, will be married on Jan. 2.

Phil and Edna have been pally for years and Plant gave her a $12,000 diamond ring, which was covered with diamonds and it disappeared.

OTHER WAY, SHE WINS

The first story was that she lost it to a man in the Fifth Avenue Plaza, the mother, Mr. William Hayward. Later it was said the bracelet vanished with Edna and that the confectioner for the heavyweight title offered, without result, a $1000 reward for its return.

A lot of Boston folk who inspected Edna's necktie offerings when they were in the city, and who watched her twinkling eye since she came to the city, were awaiting the outcome of the Plant-Baer contest with considerable interest, and don't see how Edna can drive.

Scientists Find Oysters Beautiful Fur Foxes

Your oyster must be as beautiful as a touch of bad odors in them. When foxes eat oysters, their fur grows exceptionally beautiful.

Old age does not weaken oyster's manual skill as much as is generally thought, and in many ways improves mentality.

There are among a hundred or more new things discovered by scientists recently that are of interest today at the science exhibit of the meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

COLORFUL EXHIBITS

In the colorful light thrown by the stained glass windows of the Museum of Science, the exhibition presents some 80 sections, each an astonishing display of scientific research and invention, instruction, industrial art and beauty.

As to the scientific analysis of oysters of all kinds, scientists of the Arthur Little laboratory have devised a method of giving an analysis number, or ticket, to each oyster. Thus, oyster of row is 6322, number, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

$300,000 AUTO WITH ARMOR IS SEIZED

The finding of a $300,000 armored automobile of special construction, with bullet-proof steel body and glass, and a first-class mystery, presumably of gangland, into the laps of the South End police today.

Of a sedan type, new, and one of the most expensive makes on the market, the car is unlike anything ever to come to the attention of police in Boston before.

It was found in Harrison ave. by Special Officer Harvey B. Yates and has been towed to the police garage pending investigation of its ownership.

The authorities declined to give out the registration number, which is a Massachusetts plate. Their probe has progressed to the extent where they have questioned the father of a man to whom it is registered and have been told his son does not own a car. They have not yet questioned the son.

Capt. James R. Clavin estimated the cost of the car at $300,000. It has a divided rear window of bullet-proof glass, which has a small section opening by a button. This section is just large enough for the insertion of a shotgun barrel, it was found.

Two "decks" of what appeared to be cocaine were found in the car, along with a .45 caliber revolver bullet. The suspected parties are being analyzed.

There is a possibility the machine was constructed for the purpose of running dope across the border, one policeman suggested.

His trial today before Judge Delano Putnam as the result of an anti-Nazi demonstration in front of the German consulate, 131 State st., a week ago. All were charged with assaulting and looting.

They were part of a throng of 300 demonstrators who gathered at the consulate and ignored police orders to disperse.

When about 200 of their friends came to the courthouse today, rumors quickly spread they were part of a new demonstration.

Sheriff John A. Kelleher proposed to assign a detail of his deputies to prevent any possible disorder. Police Insp. William R. Connelley, supervising cases, took the matter in his own hands and ordered every detail back from the courthouse, except the defendants and witnesses.

The crowd was cleared from the courthouse.

Those on trial are Alice Iyck, Sarah Barr, Anna Walters, Paul Gilman, George Hobbes and Charles Carroll. The last two are also accused of assault and battery on William Sheridan, a customs guard.

The investigation into transactions in Atlas Truck Corp. stock was continued today with the questioning of Darrach Park, a vice-president of the Manufacturers Trust Co., by Asst. Atty-Gen. Ambrose V. McGowan.

Darrach has charge of the securities department of the trust company. He was questioned with McCall for half an hour. The nature of the questioning was not disclosed.

Mail announced he would question two accountants for a brokerage house this afternoon. He would not disclose their identities, but indicated stock transactions would be examined since the accountants were ordered to bring their books.

Music's 'Babe' Still Up GO ON TRIAL

By MELVIN E. COLMAN Associated Press Staff Writer New York, Dec. 27—Starting his 26th season at "The Met" and celebrating 40 years as an impresario is Giulio Gatti-Casazza, monarch of Grand Opera.

He is a huge six-footer with great, broad shoulders, deep chest, a mighty torso and legs to this proportion that he once was dubbed "The Babe Ruth of the Musical World." But he lacks "The Babe's" cherubic countenance.

Gatti-Casazza's features are big, bold, moulded in strong lines and set off by a closely-clipped mustache and a neatly pointed Van Dyke beard.

Whiskers and hair are shot with gray and the fact that 40 years of dealing with singers of every degree of temperance, of handling witty, innumerable suggestions of self-appointed critics and of managing the details of an immense organization, has not turned his hirsute adornments snow white is cited by his friends as plain evidence of his capaxities.

He is described as a foe of bluff and pomposity. He never haunts the foyer, lobbies and halls and will not don full dress except under force of unconvincible circumstances. Opening night on him in a double-breasted sack coat accents his bulk and dark, striped trousers. He wears four-hand ties and sport black hats.

Italian by birth, he does most of his talking in French. He knows English, but speaks it slowly and when addressed in it wants it translated clearly and deliberately. Some of those who know him suspect that he keeps the slow English speech as a shield. Anyone who knuckles on to him when he doesn't wish to be bothered.

But his few cronies say he is a keen conversationalist. He loves books, knows history, and of course, music and musicians.

Alfred T. Dean, 27, a broker and formerly shoe manufacturer, died today at his home in Main st., Cochituate, of heart disease. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Hattie Fairbanks Dean, and three children: John, 10, Grace, 8, and Alfred H., 6, all of Wellesley.

Until 10 years ago he was associated with his father in a $2,000,000 shoe business, but retired to join Charles Dean & Co. brokers at 188 Lincoln st., Boston.

NEW DUAL CARBURETION AND DUAL INTAKE MANIFOLD ADD TO POWER AND ECONOMY OF THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1934

LIKE a pair of lungs for this powerful motor, this new system of carburetion and intake supplies vaporized gasoline evenly to all eight cylinders. Two distinct advantages result from it:

1. More even compression of fuel, giving still greater power, faster acceleration, quicker starting and smoother performance in cold weather.

2. More complete utilization of fuel, more miles to the gallon of gasoline, with consequent economy. Crankcase dilution is reduced to a minimum, thereby conserving oil with still further economy in operation.

Increased efficiency at less cost is a notable achievement. Yet it is only one of many improvements which distinguish this new and greater Ford V-8 for 1934.

Clear-Vision Ventilation. Constant Supply of Fresh Air without Drafts or Obstruction to View

As perfected in the New Ford, this system of ventilation operates efficiently at all speeds, winter or summer.

In cold or stormy weather, the new adjustable window ventilators can be opened the desired amount to provide fresh air.

Individual control on front door and rear-quarter windows enables passengers to obtain desired ventilation without causing discomfort to others. Windshield and windows do not fog when ventilators are opened.

In warm weather, the windshield—which opens—and the cowl ventilator provide additional fresh air.

This New Ford is a more comfortable car. It has new spring flexibility, improved shock absorbers, softer seat springs, and deeper seat cushions.

It is a handsome car. New lines, new chromium-plated radiator shell and grille, new interior design.

But above all it is an efficient and economical car, a wonderful value for the price, and an automobile on which you can depend for long and satisfactory service.

OFFICIALS BURY WRECK DEAD

Paris, Dec. 27 (AP)—In a national funeral at a Paris railroad station, France made a last farewell to the victims of the Ligny train disaster today as the deaths of two women raised fatalities to 205.

An enormous crowd gathered in the great, black-draped underground hall of the East Station. It was transformed into a chapel beside the baggage room where rows of coffins lay.

President Lebrun, Premier Camille Chautemps and the entire cabinet, with leaders in the French parliament, joined yesterday's families to hear the funeral oration by M. Paganon, minister of public works.

In cold or stormy weather, the new adjustable window ventilators can be opened the desired amount to provide fresh air.

Individual control on front door and rear-quarter windows enables passengers to obtain desired ventilation without causing discomfort to others. Windshield and windows do not fog when ventilators are opened.

In warm weather, the windshield—which opens—and the cowl ventilator provide additional fresh air.

This New Ford is a more comfortable car. It has new spring flexibility, improved shock absorbers, softer seat springs, and deeper seat cushions.

It is a handsome car. New lines, new chromium-plated radiator shell and grille, new interior design.

But above all it is an efficient and economical car, a wonderful value for the price, and an automobile on which you can depend for long and satisfactory service.

POLICE AIDING MAYFAIR PLEA

Is located in Broadway, represents a $60,000 investment and that the license will mean a $2500 weekly payroll with employment for 70 percent.

Abraham described as a man of good character and reputation in Dorchester who has never been arrested for any violation of any law.

"The last we heard of the Mayfair another man has taken over the restaurant business," said Montague.

WANT BEST PATRONS

"That is not the way we plan to operate now," said Brennan. "We propose to operate under a single head."

Montague mentioned the "unofficial, undesirable information," and Brennan said:

"Well, that was under the old crowd. This is an entirely new organization. Mr. Abraham is going to take the place over himself. It is a new management."

"There is no record of any violation against the club and you are frequented by the best people of state and city. This is the kind we are hoping to cater to, decent, respectable citizens who are not supposed to violation of the law."

He asked that dancing be permitted from 7 p. m. until 2 a. m. except on Saturday nights.

BOARD SHOWS SKEWED

When he first mentioned the proposed New Year's Eve party, Arthur Seidgoff of the board declared:

"I don't think you have any chance for New Year's Eve."

But when the hearing ended, Brennan asked Montague whether the board would be able to give a decision later this afternoon and the chairman said:

The board then went into executive session while Brennan remained in the office.

MISS TASHA TUDOR WILL BE FEATURED IN CAST OF 'MIGNON'

JANE BANCROFT PRISCILLA PRINCE LANDSALE WATSON
Three of the most popular debutantes in Boston society will take parts in "Little Women," which is to be produced as a stage play on January 22 at the Copley Theater. They are, from left to right, Jane Bancroft as "Meg," Priscilla Prince as "Beth" and Lansdale Watson as "Amy." The scene represents Christmas morning at the home of the "Little Women," as they prepare a great big gift surprise for mother.

HANEY FOR NEW PLAN IN U. S. DEBT ROLL

Philadelphia, Dec. 27 (AP)—An improved bankruptcy procedure that would permit immediate settlement of matured debts and let business know where it really stands is urged by Lewis R. Haney, professor of economics at New York University.

In an address today before the American Statistical Association, Haney said that "last March we turned the track which leads to normal recovery."

"Business men, farmers, and financial institutions do not know where their debt and net position is," he said. "This breeds complete uncertainty and stagnation."

"I cannot too strongly emphasize that a condition vital and essential to recovery is the settlement of claims and debts to an extent sufficient to allow debtors and creditors to know where they really stand."

"Last March, during our general banking suspension, it was to have been hoped that this sort of settlement would emerge. Actually, suspension was only a preliminary to the re-examination of the R. F. C. of the liabilities provided by the Glassall bill, etc."

"Now through various similar settlements, including the purchase of preferred stock by the government, we are seeking to prevent the settlement of claims and we find 85 per cent of the assets of the Federal Reserve banks and over 30 per cent of the assets of the member banks consisting of government securities."

"Recession and depression have turned processes of correction, deflation and liquidation, adding to the economic situation."

"When a society undertakes to fight these processes and to obstruct them at every point, it must have done in an unparalleled extent during the past three years, the depression is necessarily prolonged."

MISS HEPBURN IN N. Y. TRIUMPH

New York, Dec. 26 (AP)—Tremulous and triumphant, Katharine Hepburn returned to New York tonight a recognized stage star.

Before an audience of theatrical celebrities, she established herself as a member of tonight royalty, a position which she has held since she came to the Hartford, Ct., city, when she was making to become a Broadway satellite less than two years ago.

In the play, "The Lake," which has been a success in London for several months, she and her romantic actress gave a performance which brought the first night audience to its feet cheering for a dramatic curtain call.

It was hailed an excellent play, and an excellent cast, but it was Miss Hepburn's evening.

Dime or Less for Nick
By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
Don't know anything about this bimetallic thing? You care how tall a bill is. What we want is money.

Can't understand this remonstration business. What we need is cash.

Whole affair is like the sixty scientists reassembling the skeleton of a dinosaur. Ten many experts and not enough bones.

All we're getting out of it is a hash of big words and pictures of old men who just graduated from college.

Nick Murray Butler says it's a fine thing. Nick is inflated because his college is playing Stanford next Monday. If he wants to take the short end on Columbia we will give him three to one.

But he will have to lay his coin on the line. None of that mix stuff.

The Life Story of Katharine Hepburn

(The Boston Evening American presents today the second of a series of articles on the life story of Katharine Hepburn, latest sensation in the Hollywood film colony. Her dramatic rise from the daughter of a Hartford, Ct., physician to the newest darling of the followers of the fortunes of film favorites will be told from day to day.)

By EDWARD DEAN SULLIVAN
Katharine Hepburn is no particular. Her theatrical love is the stage.

Though I have heard no instance in which she has voiced her displeasure with Hollywood, its ways, or its people, it is a well known fact that the movie moguls are afraid of her. And that's always a pleasure in that sunny location. It is clearly not due to any definite proclamation by Hepburn that she hates the sight of studio acres but rather that they ever attract—have guessed it.

CAN'T BE BOTHERED
From the standpoint of the production, the picture producer you have fortunately missed everything—the worst thing, as well as the great thing, about Katharine Hepburn is that she can make millions for any motion picture employer. This combined with the uncertainty of her regard for all that enters into film making has brought on the epidemic of fear under the palms.

With the unquestioned fact that Miss Hepburn is a very self-contained young woman, combined with the vast and mad publicity which Hollywood has been instructed to forget, a lot of Miss Hepburn has been constructed interspersed with the mortar of doubt. The worse blight that can come to the pillars of Hollywood is the development of an artist who ever hark—longed years—can't be bothered.

A NEW SUCCESS
International host of dramatics—Miss Hepburn has just opened her stage play, "The Lake." At Hollywood these who have the cinema at heart and a soulful attitude on matters financial are spending her three months variation in counting, worrying and trembling. For Miss Hepburn "Lake" looks like a hit.

And these joint tributes of interest and worry are combined with a 24-year-old girl who was herself but a nervous understudy five years ago. And not an heir to a million: a relative of royalty or even a Phi Beta Kappa girl from Bryn Mawr, as the wild publicity outburst from Hollywood described her.

"Never went anywhere to college," Miss Hepburn explains, "but in both practical and cultural subjects my parents saw that we all had an excellent general education. My father knew teachers who could save a little money and, inasmuch as that is the only kind of money we ever had, the exchange was made."

I find that I can read, write, think and function mentally, as well as I will ever need to. For I am an everlasting grateful to my darling parents, who have done simply everything for me at all of the family has proved itself talented, or musical, or artistic, and since I come, and now I'm something or other, too. I hope I'm not nearly as proud as I am glad and grateful.

Judging the details of her marriage to Ludlow Ogden Smith, Miss Hepburn says:

"I eloped with Ludlow when I was waiting for the chance which never came in 'Holiday.' No one knew about it except my family and when 'Holiday' ended his no sentiment and I calmly discussed just what I ought to do. It was finally decided that I would just try one film at Hollywood. I had really worked so hard and had been so ambitious to succeed that it seemed quite hard to stop right at once without one little trace of success. I agreed that if my own effort in the picture was not outstandingly successful I would be the quietest of wives and cease speaking of my assumed or hoped-for ability to do. My husband was agreeable about that, as he is ever agreeable about the situation in which there is opportunity for consideration of others. So I went to Hollywood and was cast as Sydney in the play "A Bill of Divorcement."

As Sydney, Miss Hepburn rose instantly to mental stardom as the executives of Hollywood observed this splendid picture unrelieved even in its previous selections. At random, so as not to interpose an obstacle to the experienced acting of the stars John Barrymore and Billie Burke, the practically inexperienced Hepburn literally "stole the show." There was no Hollywood attitude of envy involved in the playing of the two stars with whom she played, either. They granted her every opportunity and hailed her triumph.

There followed her sterling performance in "Christopher Strong," "Morning Glory" and her really emotional playing of the role of "Jo" in the beautifully filmed "Little Women." Hepburn, always a tom-boy, brought to life in her portrayal of "Jo" one of the oldest and most popular characters of American fiction to make it newly beloved around the world.

With this triumph, the fourth in four plays, the place of Katharine Hepburn as a screen star of the first magnitude was forever established. With her youth, her unfailing artistry, her qualifications for the nobility of feminine types her future as an acting-great is not only assured but is dancing in its potentialities. Literally the career of Miss Hepburn, has just begun.

Another chapter in the life of Katharine Hepburn—a fascinating narrative of her career—will appear in tomorrow's Boston Evening American.

Janet Gaynor, Charlie Farrell Will Be Starred in "The Sun Shines Bright"

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor, Universal Service.

Los Angeles, Dec. 27—There is no stopping that Irishman, Winfield Sheehan, once he makes up his mind to give a picture a start. He is going to put over Janet Gaynor and Charlie Farrell with such a bang that they will be hearing the echo on the other side of the world.

Winnie has chosen this little job, "The Sun Shines Bright," based on Kathleen Norris' "Manhattan Love Song" and adopted by Sonia Levien and James Gleason. That isn't all. There will be another team of young lovers almost equally important with Gaynor and Farrell. Sally Eilers and Jimmy Dunn are cast in this all-star drama.

Loeuella O. Parsons which, according to Winnie, will have a "Grand Hotel" and "State Fair" cast. Bert Metzer and Rogers Imhoff and Jimmy Gleason are the other stars and it's an immediate event.

Christmas passed hand by Berkeley by Jack Warner, Berkeley who left the New York stars to come to Hollywood as dance director, has had the honorary degree of full-fledged director bestowed upon him. In the very next musical comedy to be made at the Burbank studios, the man who revolutionized musical comedies and made it possible for girl ensembles to look like something on the screen, will be in complete directorial charge. Mr. Berkeley takes the big step to New York when he and Merna Kennedy trip to the altar.

"The most baby-convoluted mother in Hollywood has been Karen Morley. She hasn't left her young son since he was born. Career and all else have been forgotten. But now Miss Morley will leave her young son to play the lead in "Shoe the Wild Mare." Gene Fowler's story for Paramount, Miss Morley's husband, Charles Vidor, is on the same list, directing "The Seal Drive," an adventure story. It has been his hope that one day he might direct her and who knows but that it may come true.

This is a independent project that sounds mighty good, although sometimes these independent do not carry out their plans. Carrie Jacobs Bond, and if you haven't heard "The End of a Perfect Day" and "I Love You Truly," then your musical education has been so neglected you might as well skip the rest of this story, is being urged to bring her sons to the screen.

The producer who is trying to induce her to sign on the dotted line is Neil McGuire, and he must be a go-getter, for he has practically persuaded Edwin C. Hill, newspaper man and one of the biggest radio bets on the air, to act as master of ceremonies.

By actual count there are 250 beauties on the Fox list. One-third of these are red-heads, one-half blondes and a few scattered brunettes. One of the not shots is Sylvia Frost, singer on the radio who will sing the principal songs in "Fox Movietone Follies of 1934." Miss Frost sings one solo and a song with John Boles. Then there is Nicholas Forman, Princeton football player and the son of one of the big political shots in the East. It's a happy Yuletide season for Dudley Murphy, who has signed the M-G-M at a salary. Irving Cummings is also celebrating. He goes to London to direct "Grand Canary," the first of a series of J. L. has mapped out for himself. Irene Franklin, too, is doing a little celebrating. The former red-head, who is now almost as doing all right for herself on the screen and she has just been signed for another Warner Brothers picture, "The Vary Honorable Guy." Everyone will be glad that Jack Warner plans to do other roles for Miss Franklin. Donald Wood is happy today in "The Seal Drive," replacing Lyle Talbot who will not finish "Registered Nurse" in time.

Snapshots of Hollywood

Stage Queen

By JAMES E. MITCHELL

Hollywood, Dec. 27—One way and another they continue to have a lot of fun on the "Bolo" set, where Wesley Ruggles is directing George Raft, Carol Lombard and the others.

Martha Baumgartner, a Swiss character actress, plays the role of an innkeeper and yesterday was was instructing Raft and Miss Baumgartner in a bit of business.

Now remember, George, "Bugs" said, "it's just a ched, just a yoke!"

Miss Baumgartner listened intently, trying to understand the unfamiliar English words.

Presently she and Raft began the scene. The cameras started grinding and suddenly she burst forth in a series of loud whoops.

Ruggles eye almost popped out of his head. All the others were startled, too.

"Stop! Stop!" shouted Wes. Miss Baumgartner saw at once she had done something she should not have.

Oh, I thought you said I was to yodel," she explained.

Oscar, the penguin, insists upon being a nudist.

Every time they paint a row of buttons down his white front for Al. Raft's picture, "No More Women." Oscar immediately takes them off with his hand.

Irene Dunn and her husband, Dr. Francis Griffin, have found a way to play bridges without fighting about it.

With the doctor in New York and Irene here, they play contract by mail. They write to each other every day and it usually takes about a month to play a game. Then they talk over long distance telephones. But no post mortems.

Jimmy Cagney, who attended Columbia, will be honorary chess leader for his alma mater at the New Year's Day game.

Mary Cullen, Invincible's producer, bought a box of cigars at a drug store, but after getting them home found he could not smoke them.

He took them back and tried to get a refund, but the drugist refused.

"How many did you buy?" asked the drugist.

"I bought a whole box," said Mary.

"You should worry about a box," exclaimed the drugist.

"We're stuck with 5000 of them." Other chatter news and pictures on Page 9.

A SPECTACLE of SPLENDOR in STORY and SONG

You'll thrill to the rhythm and the romance of this gorgeous extravaganza which brings to you the delightful antics of the screen's most fascinating comedienne. America's favorite love song singer of screen and radio rises to new heights of happy entertainment. What a combination!

GULESIAN ARMS AFTER THREATS RECEIVES PLEA FOR GUN PERMIT
Dist. Atty. Bishop Approves Plea for Gun Permit

While Middlesex authorities moved today for grand jury action in the alleged attempted abduction of John G. Gulesian, wealthy Boston realtor, the latter took steps to protect himself against physical violence.

As a result of telephoned threats because he "talked" too much about John Gray, alias Mason, now held as a fugitive from justice, Gulesian secured permission to carry a gun.

DEFIES THREATENERS
Dist. Atty. Warren L. Bishop, of Middlesex County, said he would recommend to police of Newton, in which city Gulesian makes his home, that he be given permission to carry a revolver.

The real estate operator, who brought about the arrest of Gray while he was in a hospital recovering from a fall at a prohibition repeal party, maintained a stout front when threatened.

A voice on the telephone, he said, announced:

"I'm coming right up there to shoot you. You're talking too much about Gray." Gulesian said he terminated the conversation by replying:

"Come on up. I'll put in five shots to your one."

IDENTIFIED GRAY

Gulesian, who told the authorities an attempt was made to swindle and kidnap him in Albany, N. Y. on Nov. 13, asked that Gray be held within the confines of Massachusetts pending further investigation. He identified Gray as a member of the gang he said tried to abduct him.

At the real estate man's request evidence in connection with the alleged attempted abduction was presented to the January session of the Middlesex grand jury by Dist. Atty. Bishop.

POLAR SEA
FOOLS BYRD

Christmas echoes were heard in Quincy today when John R. Iorio, 36, of London, at East Boston, was brought into court on a stretcher to answer charges of stabbing his host and hostess at a Milton Yuletide party.

Iorio pleaded not guilty to charges of assault with a dangerous weapon on Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Tullio of Blue Hill ave., Milton, on Christmas night, as the climax of a week-end party in their home. The alleged assailant was held in $500 for hearing, Jan. 18. A leg injury, suffered when he declared to have attempted to escape arrest at his East Boston home, was the cause for his being carried into court. Meanwhile, the Tullios are at Milton hospital, but not in a serious condition.

Census Gives Jobs to 3000 Women
More than 3000 "white collar" women have been given jobs with a minimum weekly salary of $18 when the Massachusetts unemployment bureau got underway, according to Mrs. Anne Page, census director.

Women who wish to be employed must register with the nearest Federal Re-employment bureau, Mrs. Page said. "It is expected the work will give a measure of relief until Feb. 15."

COURT ALLOWS BRYANT WILL
The will of the late Anne Bolton Matthews Bryant, the sculptress, was allowed in Suffolk Probate court today. It had been contested by her niece, Mrs. Pauline Burdett, of Fairhaven, and Mrs. Ruth Paine of Exeter and Boston, and a cousin, Le Roy S. Fay, of Auburndale.

The testator was alleged to have been of unsound mind and subjected to undue influence in the complaint of the contestants. The will was probated in Suffolk Probate court today, and Mrs. Pauline Burdett, of Fairhaven, and Mrs. Ruth Paine of Exeter and Boston, and a cousin, Le Roy S. Fay, of Auburndale.

CRANE WANTS TO SELL
No Man's Land, the little island which State Auditor Francis X. Hurley recommends as the site of a new Massachusetts prison colony, is on the market for $100,000.

This discovery, and other work points in the Hurley proposal made it appear today that the state auditor's recommendation, to be contained in a report on prison conditions he is preparing for Gov. Ely, will receive scant support in any quarter.

CRANE WANTS TO SELL
No Man's Land, the little island which State Auditor Francis X. Hurley recommends as the site of a new Massachusetts prison colony, is on the market for $100,000.

Hurley wants the state to take it, but prolongs his refusal to do so. He is not sure that the purchase price of the island and the construction of a prison there with transportation of materials a hazardous and dangerous undertaking—would make the total cost prohibitive. Massachusetts has no need of a "Devil's Island."

People have a hard enough time getting to No Man's Land now, and the ferrying of materials and supplies across the island, in fact, and that that was a complete escape.

Cargo of Winter Sinks Ship

Some things can dig out, but not the City of Bangor. She'll have to dive up. Nature's longshoremen piled on too much cargo—all snow—in the City of Bangor, once an Eastern Steamship Co. boat in regular service but recently tied up at the Federal Wharf, East Boston, sank. (Boston American photo.)

BOSTON STOCK EXCHANGE HEAD-STARTED AT 13

Collins Won Way to Leadership With Rapid Strides

By FRANK H. MCGLOTHLIN
Editorial Editor Boston American
Charles Alexander Collins, the new president of the Boston Stock Exchange, like Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, has been in the "hot seat" since he took office. He has been in the "hot seat" since he took office. He has been in the "hot seat" since he took office.

In 1930, after the lapse of 14 years, Mr. Collins became a participant in the business. On the retirement of Mr. Purinton on Jan. 1, 1937, he succeeded to the presidency. He then, under the leadership of Mr. Collins, the Boston Stock Exchange has been in the "hot seat" since he took office.

Mr. Collins became a member of the Boston Stock Exchange in 1925, taking over the seat formerly held by Mr. Purinton. Mr. Collins was elected to the Board of Governors of the National Association of Securities Dealers in 1930, and held that position up to his election to the presidency.

On Jan. 18, 1934, Mr. Collins was made president of the Lynn Institution, a savings bank, which office he held until 1936. He was then elected to the position of president of the Boston Savings Bank, which office he held until 1936.

Mr. Collins has been a director of the Boston Savings Bank since 1930, and is also a director of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad Co.

Steel Moving With Business

By JOSEPH STAGG LAWRENCE
This chart is intended to show the relationship between activity in the steel industry and the movement of general business activity. It was made by the chart, with steel output shown in the line of general business, we would get a general picture of the steel industry's position in the economy.

Conditions in the steel industry have lately given more encouraging signs with the weekly data on current rate of operation moving in a recovery in 1932 and 1933 and subsequent decline in 1934 shows output reached its peak for the period 1919-1931 during the steel year.

On the other hand, prospective recovery of the national industry and further placing of orders by the railroads have created a more optimistic feeling that the turn of the year will see increased activity in the steel industry.

The importance of the heavy industry in the general scheme of production has been recognized by the administration and it is logical to assume that its rate of progress will be closely watched.

After all the talk of supply and demand is older than Christmas, the steel industry has been the subject of much speculation and what is the result?

A little reflection shows that the steel industry has been the subject of much speculation and what is the result? The steel industry has been the subject of much speculation and what is the result?

So, all in all, your Uncle Sam has been a pretty good Santa Claus, and his Christmas presents have done much to stimulate business.

These figures are the orthodox chartists' last hope. The steel industry has been the subject of much speculation and what is the result?

The metal and liquor shares, which we have constantly warned against, are still putting on a terrible performance. The latter, however, should shortly begin to feel the pinch.

Our duty as loyal citizens is to exercise to the limit whatever we possess. The government has been the subject of much speculation and what is the result?

Worried as Price Dip Is Continued

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW
State St. observers are frankly worried about the present status of the share markets. Prices of numerous individual issues, as well as important averages are hovering at critical levels.

The industrialists held, it is true, by the slimmest of margins. A further dip carrying the industrial index below 90 would undoubtedly preface a test of importance.

Electric power production showed a more than seasonal gain. One must note, however, that the weekly fluctuations in this particular index are largely seasonal.

While a precedence is against it, the fifth intermediate reversal of average prices since last July, we may as well be prepared for the possibility that such a happening. It hinges around the behavior of the dual averages.

Both must be broken by a full point to indicate further reaction. These figures are the orthodox chartists' last hope.

Imagination Is Real Asset in Bridge

By JOSEPHINE COLBERTSON
THE good Contract Bridge player requires a combination of qualities. One is mathematical ability. Another, which is equally important and in some cases even more so, is the quality of imagination.

The hand below, in which Mr. Walter Wynne of Arlington, Mass., held the South cards, is a splendid example of imaginative play. Mr. Wynne's unusual distribution of play enabled his partner to know the exact distribution of every high card and also the exact distribution of each suit at the end of the first trick. Here are the hands and the bidding:

AKQ10	AK	AKQ10	AK
7532	AK	AKQ10	AK
AK	AK	AKQ10	AK
AK	AK	AKQ10	AK

The bidding:
South West North East

OYSTER OMELET

Stew in their own liquid one-half pint oysters five minutes. Remove oysters and thicken liquid with a piece of butter the size of a walnut rolled in flour, season with salt and cayenne. Whisk this to a cream. Cook the oysters and add with the sauce thickener. Beat the yolks and whites of four eggs, separately, break up a piece of bread in small pieces (do not use crust), put in a cupful and add just enough milk to cover the crumbs, add a little salt, beat well and add to the oyster sauce. Stir in the whites very lightly, turn into a hot spider greased with butter and place in the oven. If the oven is hot it requires about five or eight minutes to cook it. Before folding put some of the oyster sauce with in and turn into a hot dish. Pour the remainder of the sauce around it.

COOK-COOS

By TED COOK
Radio technicians in Rochester declare that radio frequencies penetrate the ground and stimulate vegetable growth. And it's a shame there's no way to use vegetables to stimulate radio frequencies.

Of course everybody knows what radio has done to stimulate hams.

And many of the radio serials are, you might say, equivalent to a lot of spinach.

"Middle age" reflects Genevieve, the kitchen cynic, "in the time of life when you realize the mistakes of your youth and wish you could do them over again."

TRAGIC AMERICA (Movie Fan Magazine). While working about — especially on a task you do not particularly fancy — run over in your mind the film you saw the previous night, or try to recall the names of films in which one of your favorites has appeared. A good game.

TO GET OUT AND TAKE A CHANCE!

Think of these things as you face the New Year with its New Chance.

And the next time you're lonely because you're good, stop being sorry for yourself.

Wipe your chin, and lift up your eyes and THINK GOD THAT YOU HAVE WHAT IT TAKES!

For loneliness is such a little price to pay for the chance to own the sky line.
